

BARRE DAILY TIMES

Subscriptions: One year, $3; one month, 25 cts.; single copy, 1 cent.

Members of the Publishers' Press.—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.

Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

"Times, of Course"

That's what all the newsboys say when asked which Barre paper sells the best. There is no doubt about it.

The Rutland railroad is giving the people of western Vermont a service that compares more than favorably with that of other sections of the state.—Middlebury Register.

Which may be entirely true and still not be much of a recommendation for the Rutland railroad.

Vermonters may prepare for more than the usual deluge of seed contributions from their congressmen, as the distribution this year will be the largest ever made. Something like 4,000,000 packages or nearly one thousand tons of the stuff will be sent out. If the congressmen will guarantee the growth from the seeds we may forgive them.

Vermont editors are renowned for the misuse of the word "team," but the Barre Times takes the prize in telling of a man who "was driving a pair of horses from the pole of his team."—Vermont Union Signal.

Consult your dictionary for the definition of the word "team" and see if the word does not include both the horses and the vehicle to which they are attached. If, after the consultation, you still think the prize is ours we will not hesitate to take it.

This is startling. Two local pastors announce the following subjects for discourse tomorrow, "Does Religion Pay?" and "The Christianity of Nineteen Centuries a Great Mistake?" However, there is no need for alarm that the Christian religion is tottering on its throne. Instead, you will readily apprehend what answers the pastors will give to their own queries. Yet that should not hinder any from hearing what promise to be two able sermons.

It is said that there is one insane person in every 400 people in the state of Vermont. Why there should be so large a proportion in a state whose general tranquility is a matter of comment it is difficult to determine. There is none of the tension of a large city, nor the grinding in search of a sustenance. Yet the percentage of the insane is nearly the largest of any state in the union. The advice of a contemporary, however, to keep cool and not let business worry get the upper hand, is just as well put.

One contemporary, at least, has a clear comprehension of a situation which must be met in Vermont, and the following excerpt from an editorial of the Randolph Herald and News is printed to show that the light is breaking. The Randolph contemporary says:

"There is, in Vermont, unfortunately, a feeling of exclusiveness and a prejudice against newcomers, especially those of a different class or nationality, that often hampers. It is presumed in advance that they are ignorant and lawless, and they are held to strict account. They get the 'stone glare' from about everybody for a time, until their real merits are discovered and their faults weighed in the same balance that applies to the old native stock. It is an encouraging symptom when this stage is reached. It evidently hasn't come in Hardwick yet.

Vermonters should not require so long to learn that because a man is a stone-cutter, or because he is a Scotchman or an Italian he is probably a scoundrel and will bear watching. Instead, he should be treated with fairness, even consideration, if you please, as being the pioneer of better times. The human hogs who never will shell out a penny to encourage new industries in a town but are the first to shove up rents and profit by them when others have brought them in are altogether too numerous in our state. An 'open season' for some of them would receive our approval."

The density of bigotry is hard to penetrate, but it seems that the narrow-mindedness of the native, fostered by misunderstanding and misrepresentation, is giving way to a more liberal policy—a policy in which the worth of a fellow-being is to be recognized even if he be not of the same creed, class or nationality.

American Steel For Wales. London, Nov. 6.—Tin plates in south Wales belonging to the Newport, Swansea and Llanelly mines, it is announced, have ordered 100,000 tons of steel bars from the United States Steel corporation. The price is given at $20 a ton.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

C. H. Caswell, an engineer of St. Albans has filed a petition in bankruptcy, his liabilities being $607.93. He has no assets.

The Rev. M. A. Rander has resigned as pastor of the Universalist church at Enosburg and goes next week to Abington, Mass., where he will have charge of a parish.

At the Woodstock postoffice 16,357 two-cent stamps were sold in October, and the total receipts for stamped paper of all kinds were $704.47. This is the largest business ever done by the office in a single month.

A strange case of conscience is reported from East Dorset, where a letter was recently received from a man in Spokane Falls, Wash., addressed to Benjamin Ames or his heirs. The Washington man said in his letter that he had left East Dorset 60 years ago, and owed Ames a board bill, which he wanted to pay now. The bill was sent to him, and a check was sent by the next mail to the Ames family.

Horace A. Moody of Cornwall, has in his possession a Swiss watch which was once the property of his grandfather, Joshua Stockwell, one of the pioneers of Cornwall, who died in 1840. The watch was carried in the Harrison campaign of 1840 and again in the Harrison campaign of 1888. Mr. Stockwell owned a store and a tavern at West Cornwall four corners, in early days sometimes called Stockwell's corners.

Owing to the illness of Chief Judge John W. Rowell of Randolph, who was to have presided at the December term of Lamoille county court, the term will not be opened until December 21. Judge H. B. Start of Bakersfield is to preside, but cannot arrange other court business so as to reach Morrisville until the 21st. It is said that this is the first time in the history of the county that a term of court has not opened upon the first day specified.

Minneapolis Begins a Cruise. Philadelphia, Nov. 6.—The United States cruiser Minneapolis has left League Island navy yard for Hampton Roads. This is the first time the vessel has been away from her dock since the spring of 1899, when she was converted into a receiving ship. The vessel is in command of Captain Adolph Marx. From Hampton Roads the Minneapolis will sail on a training cruise along the coast with about 400 recruits for the machinery department, including firemen, oilers, coal passers and boat tenders.

Equal Distribution of Space!

Now Listen to This!

A perfect Shoe should contain not a single particle of space more than necessary, otherwise the Shoe becomes large and ungainly. The Dorothy Dodd Shoe leaves more space for the foot than any other Shoe we know of, yet the Shoe itself is absolutely smaller than the ordinary Shoe. That is because it equally distributes space.
